

My name is Trishon Hanna. I am an author, Life and Relationship Coach and founder of Your Lane Life Coaching, founder and mentor of Chosen Wives Ministry, host of the radio talk show Your Lane with Coach Trish Hanna, and a Sales and Marketing Consultant at The Nassau Guardian in Nassau, Bahamas.

Wife of the Word has impacted my life in so many ways! Through the mentorship of Apostle Yvette Benton, I have gained a deeper understanding of God's expectations of me as a wife. Every course, every topic, and every scripture she has dissected has challenged me to examine myself, and through that process, I have experienced repentance, deliverance, and personal growth.

One of the most impactful teachings for me was on Proverbs 19:14, which speaks about a prudent wife being from the Lord. Apostle Yvette challenged us to fast and seek God concerning what it would take for us to become prudent wives. My God! During that time, God revealed things about myself that I didn't even realize were operating within me. One of those areas was my need for emotional maturity. That revelation allowed me to acknowledge my flaws, repent, and ask God for the grace to become the wife He has called me to be.

Another significant area of growth has been learning how to be more intentional about showing up in the marketplace while balancing my responsibilities in marriage and ministry. WOW has helped me understand that I don't have to neglect one assignment to fulfill another. I am learning how to steward the different roles God has entrusted to me without becoming overwhelmed or feeling as though I am falling short in another area. This has been so liberating because I recognize that every assignment God has given me has purpose, and I am responsible for stewarding each one well.

The WOW retreat was phenomenal! However, one experience that will forever stay with me was the DISC personality assessment session with Special Ops Nequia Speaks. My assessment identified me as an SC, a peacemaker, but through that experience, I began to realize how much of my personality had been shaped by past hurt, pain, and rejection. Some of the shyness, conflict avoidance, and behaviors I thought were simply part of who I was were actually connected to areas of my life that still needed healing. I also recognized patterns of anxious attachment that I needed to address.

As I continued my healing journey, I began discovering more of the outgoing, outspoken, and sociable woman God created me to be. What a revelation! Sometimes we don't even realize what we are carrying until God allows it to be exposed so that we can be delivered.

Today, I can truly say that WOW has not only helped me become a better wife, but also a better leader, mentor, and steward of the assignments God has entrusted to me. What I have received through this mentorship has equipped me to pour into other women from a place of greater understanding, healing, and personal experience.

I am grateful to Apostle Yvette Benton for her obedience to God and for creating an environment where wives are not just taught the Word but are challenged to become Wives of the Word!
